ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to extend my sincere gratitude to Dr. B.G. Prashanthi, Department of Computer Science, St. Joseph's College (Autonomous), for their continuous support, guidance, knowledge and insights in assisting me in my Mini project work.

They inspired and encouraged me to go out into the field and gain hands-on experience. I'm very grateful for all the time that they have sacrificed in helping me sort out the fine details of this project.

I would also like to convey my gratitude towards St. Joseph's College (Autonomous) for giving me an opportunity to do a web development project. I would also like to express my gratitude to all of my friends, parents, and well-wishers for their help in completing my mini-project.

INTRODUCTION:

The Online travel industry does not have an exact starting date. But we can say that over the past five-six years, the views and trends of the customers have changed towards their travel bookings. The traditional “brick and mortar” was changing into online travel booking. Instead of the travel agents working on their trips, the travelers wanted to book and view their trip plan and the rates themselves. Hence we have created this website “Pleasant Holidays” which is a highly integrated booking engine connecting travel & hospitality industry suppliers with the buyer’s integrated form into a single screen. Here you can book any time at home or office with the help of your smartphone or laptop. It’s very easy for travelers to update or cancel the online booking, go through reviews, some unbeatable offers, provide bookings with no cancellation fees, free online changes facilities to customers or end-users visiting our website.

FRONT END REQUIREMENTS:

The front end is made up of many different languages and libraries. While these vary from application to application, there are only a few generic languages understood by all web browsers. The main front-end coding languages are HTML, CSS, JavaScript and online sources.

HTML

The letters in HTML stand for Hypertext Markup Language. HTML as a whole is the markup that creates the basic elements we view on a website.

CSS

Cascading Style Sheets or CSS is what gives our HTML visual appeal and draws in the user. To put it simply, style sheets dictate the presentation of HTML elements on a page.

JAVASCRIPT

JavaScript is the most popular language among developers which is essential for front-end web development. A majority of the web's popular sites, rely on JavaScript to create interactive web pages and dynamically display content to users.

STUDY OF PROPOSED SYSTEM:

- This Website lets the customers be their own travel agents.
- To maintain transparency throughout the booking process.
- It is a static Webpage.
- It provides complete guidance to book your desired vacation.
- Displays unique, and satisfying designs.
- This website includes booking services for Staycations, trekking, Tranquility, Historical Places, Beaches and Wildlife.
- This website gives an overview simple and classic online travel portal.
- Few services will give the necessary information i.e. it displays reviews.

SYSTEM REQUIREMENTS:

Software requirements:

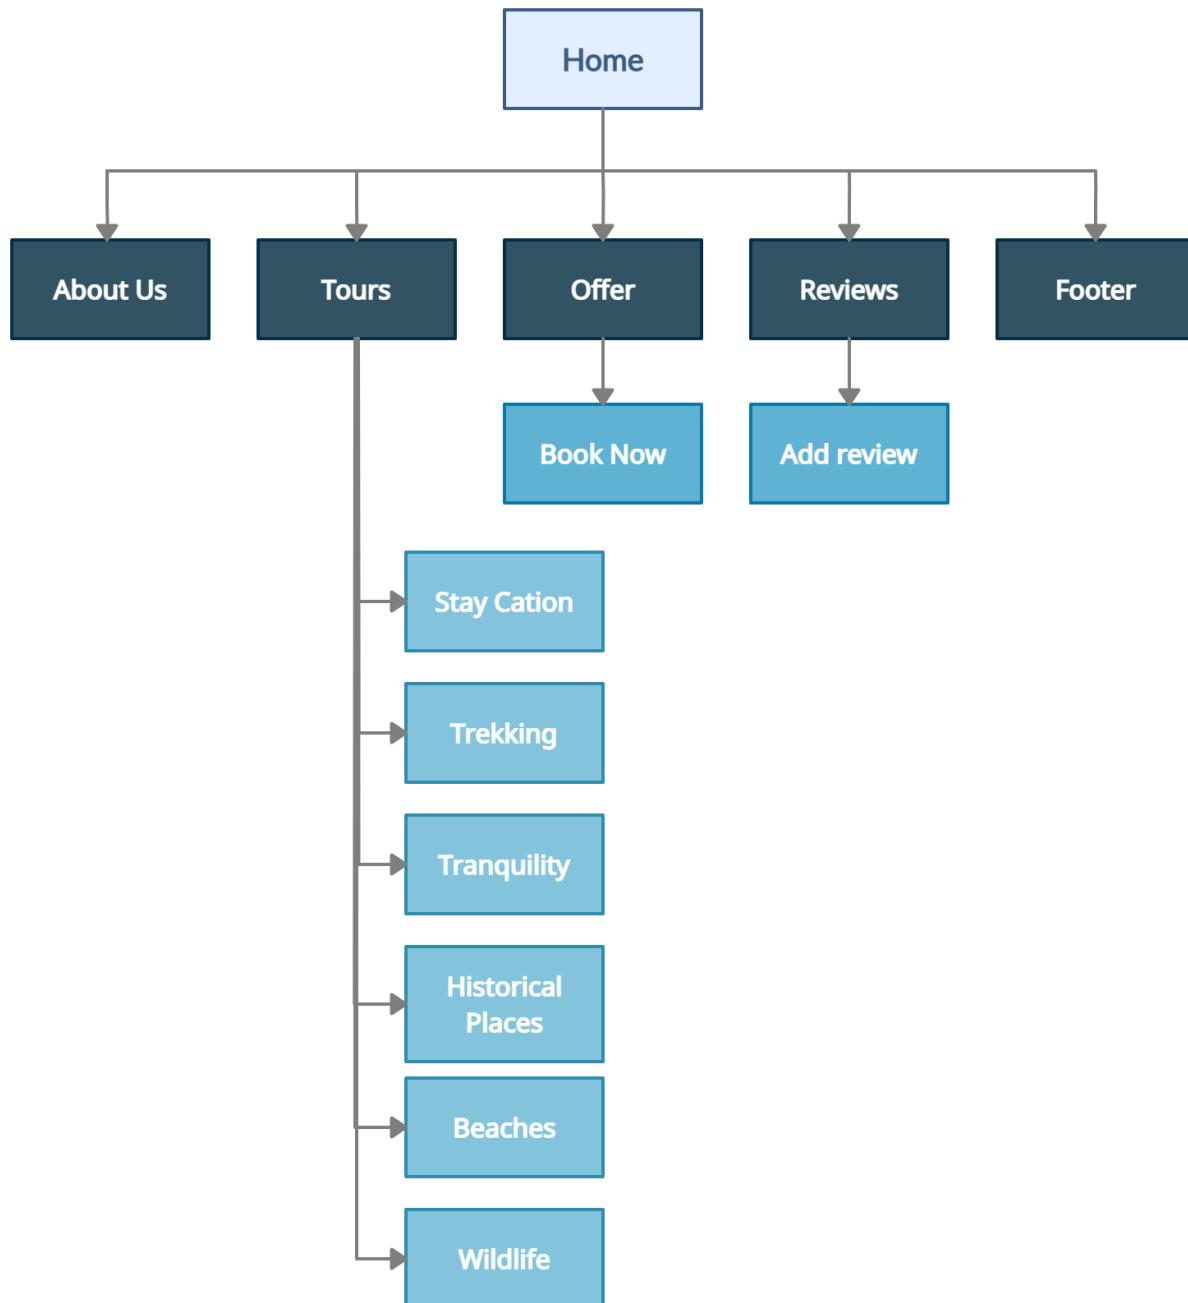

- Operating system: Windows 7
- Coding language
 - HTML
 - CSS
 - Java Script

Hardware requirements:

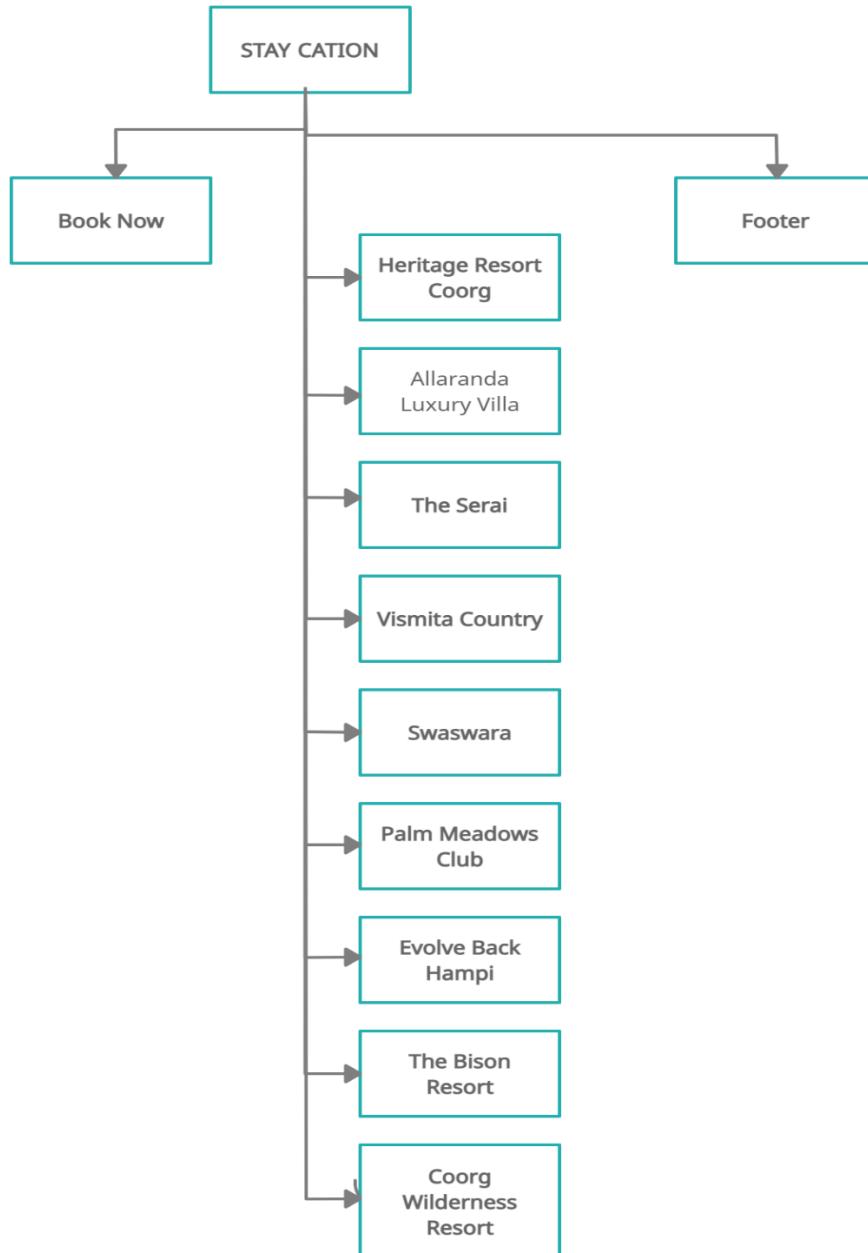

- System: Intel Core i3 and above
- Hard disk: 500GB
- RAM: 8GB+
- Any Desktop/Laptop system with the above configuration or higher level.
